About the Building and Construction Authority (BCA)

The Building and Construction Authority (BCA) of Singapore champions the development of an excellent built environment for Singapore. BCA's mission is to shape a safe, high quality, sustainable and friendly built environment, as these are four key elements where BCA has a significant influence. In doing so, it aims to differentiate Singapore's built environment from those of other cities and contribute to a better quality of life for everyone in Singapore. Hence, its vision is to have "a future-ready built environment for Singapore". Together with its education arm, the BCA Academy of the Built Environment, BCA works closely with its industry partners to develop skills and expertise that help shape a future-ready built environment for Singapore. About National Productivity Month 2014 (NPM 2014)

National Productivity Month (NPM) to be held in October 2014 is a national-level initiative to showcase and share ideas, methods and perspectives on how companies can improve productivity. Co-organised by the Singapore Business Federation (SBF) and Singapore National Employers' Federation (SNEF), NPM 2014 will be launched on 7 October, followed by productivity-themed sector-level events in manufacturing, healthcare, retail, food services, hospitality and construction organised in collaboration with other industry association and government agencies. Besides providing networking and learning opportunities for business leaders, the various activities within NPM 2014 will also be a platform for senior executives to have access to thought leaders, subject matter experts and industry captains who have successfully embarked on revamping their business models.
